Technology

Box with Physiomassage

Ideal reinforcement structure to allow the springs to always function perpendicular to the resting plane. The particular shaping with differentiated Fisiomassage zones, placed above and below the box, improves air circulation inside the mattress, increasing the welcome and overall comfort.

Twin spring system

A system of independent pocket springs featuring a twin concentric coil that provides the ideal balanced support for any body type and in any sleeping position. The external spring guarantees comfort and ergonomics; the inner one gives increased support in response to greater body pressure on the mattress. The springs are distributed over seven different areas, each calibrated to adapt to the pressure of the body and offering progressive yield on the basis of the points of contact.
